The workshop sessions will be held in one of the historic granaries that used to line the river banks in Kazimierz. The building has been turned into a hotel and workshop participants have the option of staying there as well. Note that there are almost no single rooms, and most participants stay in twin rooms (with ensuite bathrooms). Should you require a single room, please contact the organizers directly. Note that the price of the accommodation might be higher in such a case.

Information about the hotel is available (unfortunately only in Polish) on its website. There is also a handy map showing how to reach it.
